

Water Pathfinders Materials Now Available!

Free, Informative and Inspiring

Government Skills Australia (GSA) has been funded to promote career and employment opportunities in water as part of the Department of Education, Employment and Workplace Relations' Pathfinders Program.

GSA has developed materials to highlight the many and varied pathways into and within the Water industry with a focus on providing recruitment strategies targeting Indigenous people and women who have traditionally been less well represented.

The high media profile issue of sustainability will feature strongly in the material and provide a compelling argument for why environmentally conscious people may wish to join the sector.

The complete suite of materials includes:

Water Pathway Chart

Outlining various job roles in the water industry. Ideal for schools, RTO's and job networks

Waiting for an Opportunity to Surface?

A booklet of case studies focusing on women and Indigenous workers providing pathways into the water industry.

Recruitment & Retention: Utilising Untapped Resources

Various strategies and models for good practice recruitment. Information for recruiters looking to broaden their pool.

Waiting for an Opportunity to Surface? Profiling women in the water industry

A teaser video promoting the water industry as an exciting career pathway.

Waiting for an Opportunity to Surface? Profiling Indigenous Australians in the water industry

A teaser video promoting the water industry as an exciting career pathway.

All materials are freely disseminated.

Should your organisation be interested in obtaining copies, please contact GSA krystle.rowland@governmentskills.com.au or phone: (08) 8410 3455